Business Summary

NavStar Technologies, Inc. provides global positioning system (GPS) related hardware and services to the consumer and commercial markets in the United States and internationally. The company focuses on creating products and services that provide tracking and monitoring of vehicles and high value cargo, equipment, and other valuable and personal assets. Its products and services comprise hands-free calling navigators, fleet management systems, mobile display terminals, personal asset trackers, and software services. The company is based in Anaheim, California.

The merger of Argo Navigation and NavStar Technologies brings together wireless products with similar business strategies while addressing two different market segments. NavStar delivers affordable hands-free calling voice driven navigation system. Argo provides GPS products and services that track/monitor vehicles and other valuable assets.

The NavStar is positioned to take full advantage of two current market trends.

(1) Location Based Services (the use of GPS to provide services based on a user's location) market is in the inauguration stage of growth.

(2) GPS products and services are predicted to continue to grow at record velocity as hardware prices lowered and new services are added.

NavStar is advantageously positioned to capture both of these trends.
